

Competitive Intelligence Workshop Announcement

JTHAWES CONSULTING, LLC

Helping Smart People Think Clearly About Business and Competitive Strategy

How do you equip your teams to compete more effectively?

How do learn more about the competitive environment sooner and better than your competitors?

How do you translate your insights into better strategies?

Effective competitive intelligence is no accident. It requires thoughtful attention to what is most important. It requires intelligent data collection to address the important questions? Then comes the interpretation that make better product, market and business strategies possible.

Spend 4 hours with Tom Hawes as he leads an informative workshop to educate and energize your team. Every workshop is customized to deal with the issues that matter most to you. Practical answers, powerful techniques!
